DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 108-133 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As per claim 108, line 8 and line 13, "a computer" renders the claim vague and indefinite as it is unclear as to whether applicant is referring to a new computer or to the computer recited on line 4.

As per claim 125, lines 8, 12 and 14, "a computer" renders the claim vague and indefinite as it is unclear as to whether applicant is referring to a new computer or to the computer recited on line 4.

Claims not directly addressed are rejected based on their dependencies.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 108-159 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anthes, Gary H. Computerworld, Framingham: April 3, 1995, Vol. 29, Issue 14, page 58.

As per claims 108, 125, 134 and 151, Gary H. Anthes discloses an FCC auction system built on a client/server system. The auction system allows submission of bids on items at a plurality of times or rounds and allowing assignment of the items at different prices. Applicant is directed to the last paragraph of page 1. As in most auction systems, transmitting from a computer a signal regarding current information regarding the bidding process at the beginning of the auction would have been obvious to the skilled artisan so that bidders may view bidding information regarding item information and asking price information. Steps of receiving bids submitted by a plurality of bidders, a bid indicating at least a quantity of the items that a bidder wishes to transact and determining at a computer, for each of a plurality of bidders, a quantity of the items, if any to be assigned at the current time and in the event of such a determined quantity, assigning the determined quantity to the determined bidder is taught on page 2, first paragraph. Generating at a computer updated information regarding the bidding process is taught by Anthes as displaying new bid information and current bidding information to bidders. The step of initiating at a computer at least one additional opportunity for bidders to submit bids if any items remain unassigned is read as Additional rounds are held until no new bid is received for any license.

As per claim 109, the current information regarding the bidding process includes an indicator of a current price. Note pages 1 and 2 of the reference.

As per claim 110, Anthes discloses the assigning of the determined quantity occurs at a price related to the current price. See pages 1 and 2 of the reference.

As per claim 111, Anthes discloses the assigning of the determined quantity occurs at the current price. Note pages 1 and 2 of the reference.

As per claim 112, Anthes discloses the determining is effected for each bidder who submitted a bid at the current price. Note page 2 of reference.

As per claims 116-118, Anthes does not explicitly teach limiting a bid of a bidder by the immediately preceding bid of the bidder or by a number of objects on which a bidder is allowed to bid is not greater than the number of objects on which the bidder bids in an immediately preceding price. Such would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include in the system of Anthes with the motivation of providing limits so that a range of profit is made.

As per claims 119-122, the updated information regarding the bidding process includes all quantities or a sum of quantities to be transacted at the current time or price is not explicitly taught by Anthes. Such would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in order to provide bidders with current information so that bidders may also provide new bids based on current information.

As per claims 123-124, since the system is a multiple round auction system, a bid indicating the quantity of objects that bidder wishes to transact at two or more prices is not explicitly taught by Anthes would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to introduce in the system of described by Anthes to facilitate a bidders' plurality of bids in a multiple round bidding system.

As per claim 126, the assigning of objects or a quantity of objects occurs at the associated price is taught on pages 1 and 2 of Anthes.

As per claims 128-130, Anthes does not explicitly disclose a minimum or a maximum price that may be submitted in a bid or a number of objects on which a bidder is allowed to bid is not greater than the number of objects on which the bidder bids in an immediately preceding round. Such would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include in the system of Anthes with the motivation of providing limits so that a range of profit is made.

As per claims 131 and 132, Anthes discloses that a bid comprises an indication of a quantity of objects and a price associated with the quantity of objects. Note pages 1 and 2 of the reference.

As per claim 133, since the system is a multiple round auction system, a bid indicating the quantity of objects that bidder wishes to transact at two or more prices is not explicitly taught by Anthes would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to introduce in the system of described by Anthes to facilitate a bidders' plurality of bids in a multiple round bidding system.

As per claims 135-138 see the rejection of respective claims 109-112 above.

As per claims 142-150, applicant is directed to the rejection of claims 116-124 above.

As per claims 152 and 154-159, applicant is directed to the rejection of respective claims 128-133.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 139-141 and 153 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. Claims 113-115 and 127 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art taken alone or in combination failed to teach or suggest the limitations of each of claims 113-115, 127, 139, 140, 141 and 153.
